

Overcoming MedDRA Implementation Issues

This breakout session was attended by a mix of first time MedDRA users, those confronting implementation and individuals who had been using MedDRA in production for more than a year. A brief presentation highlighting the nature of MedDRA and implementation strategies was offered and was enhanced by audience interaction. There was an open sharing of concerns about the unknown of MedDRA implementation eased by the sharing of “what worked and what didn’t” by MedDRA veterans. I feel that everyone that attended took away valuable insight and a new set of MedDRA contacts with whom to commiserate.
